

FAMILY CONSTELLATION WORKSHOP

SATURDAY, Sept. 30, 2017 AT 1:30 PM

Systemic Family Constellation Work is a therapeutic process that is based on the understanding that traumatic events from one's family lineage can be transferred into the next generations. Ancestral suffering can emerge in your life and may manifest through illness, addictions, eating disorders and/or destructive relationship patterns.

All members of a family system are deeply connected over many generations. This bond springs from a love that provides strength and a sense of belonging. The bond connects us to a family conscience that wants us to recognize all members of our family, including those who have been outcast, dishonored, or forgotten.

In the constellation process, the unconscious bonding of a person to lineage-related traumatic events is re-enacted, and intentionally redirected.

This workshop explores the theoretical underpinnings of this work which is used extensively throughout Europe in psychotherapeutic and medical settings. The work was first developed in Germany by Bert Hellinger, a psychoanalyst and family therapist.

Family Constellation Work helps you to:

- Make systemic entanglements conscious
- Honor your ancestors and give them their rightful place
- Unburden your current family system and yourself
- Access the remembered love for healing and integration
